

The image is a cadastral map of Dobříkov. It features a network of green lines representing property boundaries and roads. A prominent red line, indicating a proposed boundary change, runs diagonally from the bottom left towards the center. A blue circle in the lower right quadrant highlights a specific area where the red line intersects with a green boundary. The map is filled with numerous small yellow and black symbols, likely representing individual plots or structures. The text is in red and located in the bottom left corner.
